WEATHER FORECAST

Arkansas — Slow clearing this afternoon tonight, colder tomorrow. Friday clear a little warmer. High day afternoon.

Experiment Station report for 24-hours ending at 7 a. m. Thursday, High 33, Low 28, precipitation .45 of an inch, rain, clear snow.

Entire State Is Covered With a Coat of Ice

By The Associated Press

A blanket of snow and ice, locked firmly in place by freezing winds and ice lay across Arkansas early today, blocking traffic of at least four highways, and turning all other roads into potential death traps.

Already, one man has died because of hard-packed ice on U.S. Highway 64. Andrew Herbert, 34, of North Little Rock suffered a severe head injury last night when his car skidded on the slick road, and collided with a truck driven by Dolphus Jones of Clarksville.

Another man was injured slightly in the mishap. Herbert died about 10 hours later.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock forecast continued freezing, or near freezing, temperatures for Arkansas today, ending any hope that warmer weather would provide relief from the frozen conditions.

State Police Capt. Jack Rhea warned motorists to stay off the highways. All roads are hazardous, he said, even those drivers whose cars are equipped with chains.

"We'd rather they all stayed at home," said Rhea, safety director for the department.

Early this morning, State Police headquarters at Little Rock reported four roads closed to all traffic by snow and sleet. They were: Highway 10 east and west of Perryville; state Highway 11 north of Batesville; state Highway 7 between Harrison and Jasper, and U.S. Highway 62 from Gateway to Harrison.

A reporter at Harrison also said U.S. Highway 62 in that mountainous area virtually is impassable.

Schools in Harrison and adjoining areas, which had registered 4 inches of snow early last night, were closed today. The heavy fall in that north central Arkansas city forced many homeward bound workers to leave their cars stalled in the streets and travel home afoot late yesterday.

Today, the Oberman Garment factory at Harrison, employing about 350 workers, was closed for the day because of the weather.

Paragould measured the largest fall, reporting 6 inches late last night. Other cities recording heavy snow falls included Batesville, Marshall and Newport. Early reports had 3½ inches at Marshall and 2½ at Batesville. Newport, which hadn't been measured last night, but a reporter said snow fell throughout the day and still was coming down at nightfall.

Early today, the Weather Bureau reported "light to moderate" snow at its eight check-point cities — Little Rock, Fort Smith, Fayetteville, El Dorado, Texarkana, Phipps, Pine Bluff and Walnut Ridge.

The bureau said only scattered sections in the east and southeast areas of the state escaped the snow, and freezing rain fell in those areas.

Intermittent snow was forecast for all areas of Arkansas today, and the temperature isn't expected to start climbing until Friday afternoon.

The wintry blast moved into Arkansas Tuesday night, bringing the first precipitation of 1956 for the state. The average rainfall for the first 17 days of the year was 2.80 inches below normal when the snow and sleet began falling.

Dimes Drive Collections Hit $1,178

The coffee at White's Cafe yesterday netted the March of Dimes $129.00, George Frazier, special events chairman announced this morning. This coffee was sponsored by ladies of the Hope Kiwanis Club.

The net was a small increase over the amount taken in at the Lions Club Coffee earlier this week. Friday the ladies of the Rotary will hold a Coffee at the Checkered Cafe and there were signs that every effort will be made to best both the Lions and Kiwanis ladies.

Chairman E. P. Young Jr., indicated today he had received a total of $1,178.94 in funds. Contributions were sent in by: $10—Dr. Herbert Rogers; $5—Dr. Sam Strong and Wilbur D. Jones; $2—by Floyd Crank and John Ladvala; $1—James Yates, Mary T. Cheatham, B. R. Horton, B. L. Arnold, Mrs. Wallace Johnson, Mrs. G. B. Morris and Tom Gamble.

Wife of Former Hope Man Dies
The wife of C. M. (Shorty) Maxwell, died yesterday in Tyler, Texas. Besides her husband she is survived by her parents, a sister and a brother. She was the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Ollie Maxwell of Hope. Funeral services will be held at Tyler today.

Wage Report Deadline January 31

LITTLE ROCK (Special) — Arkansas employers, subject to the Employment Security act, must file all 1955 quarterly wage and contribution reports by January 31, if they wish to continue enjoying the benefits of the experience rating provisions of the law, ESD Administrator James L. Bland, announced today.

The Arkansas Employment Security law provides that: "On and after April 1, 1955 no employer shall be given a rate of less than 2.7 per cent unless and until all contribution and wage reports due for all quarters have been filed in accordance with the regulations of the Commissioner (of Labor)."

Bland explained that even though an employer may be otherwise qualified for experience rating, unless all of his quarterly contribution and wage reports through the quarter ending December 31, 1955 are filed by January 31, his rate will be 2.7 per cent effective April 1, 1956 through March 31, 1957.

Birthday of Mozart to Be Observed

January 27 will mark the 200th anniversary of the birth of the famous composer, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. It will be celebrated throughout the world with performances of his compositions for piano, violin, voice and orchestra, as well as opera.

In keeping with the celebration the Hope schools will be studying his life and music. The Friday Music Club is devoting the year to the study of Mozart's works.

On January 27 the Hope High School Glee Club under the direction of Mrs. B. C. Hyatt will present the operetta "Cinderella."

The music is taken entirely from Mozart's operas and other works and is very tuneful and colorful.

A children's matinee will be given at 1:30 Friday afternoon. Admission will be only 10 cents and a part of the proceeds will be given to the March of Dimes.

The program will be repeated at 8 o'clock Friday night. Admission will be 35 cents for adults and 15 cents for children. All members of the glee club will be selling tickets and they will appreciate your patronage.

Singing Sunday at Evening Shade

Evening Shade Baptist Church will hold its regular monthly singing service Sunday, January 22. The public is invited.

Favorite Dream Is to See a Waiter at the Ritz Spill Tray of Soup on Some Celebrity

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of my favorite rebel dreams is to see a waiter at the Ritz spill a plate of soup on a celebrity.

"How often does this happen," I hopefully asked Steve Texano, the maitre d'hotel there.

Apparently He Willingly Gave Up Fight

CHESTVIEW, Fla. (AP) — The War Between the States is finally over as far as one of its veterans is concerned. He's been killed by a Yankee.

William Allen (Uncle Bill) Lundy surrendering to Northern forces, received the kiss from Miss Terry Broderick, 20-year-old Ohio State coed, at his 106th birthday anniversary party yesterday.

"That's the first time that I know of that I was ever kissed by a Yankee woman," he said. "Liked it fine."

Miss Broderick, whose parents recently moved to Chestview, and blonde Lois Davis, 26, who also kissed the Confederate vet, didn't seem to mind the kissing either.

Miss Davis presented gifts and telegrams. They included 100 silver dollars from Chestview businessmen, and a message from Gov. Leroy Collins.

After eating his favorite meal of fresh pork ham, turnip greens and corn pone, the "right spy" Rebel showed he has forgiven all Yankees.

"I love everybody," he said. "Glad to be here."

Uncle Bill, one of four survivors of the war which ended almost 91 years ago, repeated his recipe for longevity: "Look after your own business, keep away from doctors and look at every pretty girl you see."

Lundy was a member of the home guard at Elba, Ala., in the closing days of the war.

Other Confederate survivors are John Sailing of Slant, Va., and W. W. Williams of Franklin, Tex. Albert Woolson of Duluth, Minn., is the only Yankee soldier still living.

World War One Vets to Meet Jan. 22

A meeting of all veterans of World War One will be held at Hempstead Courthouse at 1 p. m. Sunday, January 22, it was announced today by Albert S. Tullos, Col. Arks., junior vice commander, Department of Arkansas.

All Veterans interested in Bill H. R. 4264 should be present. This bill was introduced to help the World War One veteran and will be explained at this meet. All that is required is that the veteran have a discharged (honorable) from the service during World War One.

GLASSES SWIPER
CHESTER, England, (UP) — A 21-year-old insurance agent admitted yesterday that he has had since he was 15 an urge to take glasses off women's faces.

The judge sentenced the youth to three weeks in a mental hospital for swiping eyeglasses off the noses of three ladies.

When the old Ritz was torn down several years ago, he and most of the staff moved up Madison Avenue to the New Ritz restaurant in the plush Carlton Hotel.

Steve deprecates the hurried habits of today's hurried diners, remembers fondly the days when people took their vitamins more leisurely.

Farmers Hail Snow as Best Drought Breaker

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — Arkansas farmers hailed the heavy snow of the past two days as one of the best drought breakers they could get.

Miles McPeck, statistician for the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service, said the snow represented the "best type of moisture we could get."

He pointed out that moisture from the snow will soak into the soil and not drain away as it normal with regular rain-falls.

"Snow will help a great deal and give us at least temporary relief," McPeck said.

The state had been without any major precipitation since last October. Upland pastures in northwest Arkansas had suffered particularly from the lack of rain. Some ranchers had to start hauling water for their stock.

Storm Hatched in Gulf Rips to Great Lakes

The Gulf of Mexico hatched a snow storm which crippled 50,000 square miles of Texas and swept all the way to the Great Lakes today.

A near-zero freeze followed the snow in Texas and heavy snow warnings were posted for parts of five midwestern states. More snow hit Arkansas and Missouri.

The storm also brought soaking rains to five bone-dry southern states, breaking a critical mid-winter drought at least for the time being.

Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee, hadn't had any good rains for almost a month. TVA generators at Douglas, Tenn., were idled for the first time in 12 years and grazing and other winter crops in the area were in dire need of water.

The storm was also a blessing to Texas, although forecasters said a lot more moisture would be needed to crack a disastrous mid-winter drought there.

The heavy snows which hit yesterday crippled a 50,000-square-mile area in upper Texas. Two persons were killed, at least three scores of schools were closed.

At Paris, Tex., there was an 8-inch snow and buses ran five hours late. Six inches of snow were measured at Bonham, home of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, and a 4-inch snow was reported at Dallas.

The temperature reading couldn't be taken because the weather observer's instruments froze.

Clear, cold weather followed the storm in Texas, but forecasters predicted snows of up to 8 inches or more for southern Illinois and Indiana and parts of Missouri, Oklahoma, and Iowa.

The predictions were born out as Charles City, Iowa, measured 9 inches of snow; Malden, Mo., 3; and Phipps, Ark., and Paducah, Ky., 4.

State police in southern Illinois said highways were packed with up to 8 inches of snow early today and it was still coming down.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the widespread snows and rains were springing from a storm center born in the northern Gulf of Mexico. The deepening low center should be over Ohio or West Virginia by tonight, it said.

L. R. to Study True Status of CTC

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — A Little Rock City Council hearing to determine the "true status" of Capitol Transit Co.'s financial position was scheduled today as the deadline on a company demand for higher fares drew near.

CTC President P. E. Askey has notified the city council of Little Rock and North Little Rock that bus service to the cities will be suspended at midnight Friday unless a 2-cent boost in fares is approved immediately. Fares now are 13 cents per ride, or two tickets for a quarter.

Both city councils have rejected the CTC ultimatum, but the Little Rock council will seek today to work out a compromise to keep the buses rolling. Except for taxis, CTC provides all the public transportation available to the 160,000 residents of the cities.

The Little Rock council's Utilities Committee, meeting with Mayor Woodrow Mann, voted last night to call today's hearing, which previously had been set for Feb. 7.

In letters delivered by policemen to Askey and CTC directors, the committee charged the firm was being unreasonable in expecting the council to approve a fare increase on such short notice.

U. S., Britain Agree Peace in Middle East Must Be Made Soon to Prevent Start of War

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, (AP) — U.S. and British officials have agreed it is vitally important to make peace between Israel and the Arab states in the next few months.

A joint effort to strengthen the whole Middle East against Russia's cold war offensive may take the form of a declaration of hope for peace by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden when they confer here at the end of the month.

Preliminary to those sessions, of the State Department and the British Foreign Office are winding up today an intensive study of Middle Eastern problems.

It appears a maximum effort will be made to bring the Israeli and Arab governments, particularly Egypt, into negotiations.

Some of the officials feel the best hope of peace lies in the next few months, since the military balance between Israel and the Arab states has not yet been seriously upset by the flow of Communist arms from Czechoslovakia to Egypt.

The Israeli government is deeply concerned over growing Egyptian military strength. Egypt, on the other hand, needs peace to undertake extensive economic development, a great new dam on the Upper Nile at Aswan.

Western officials said progress is being made toward ironing out difficulties in the way of Egypt's acceptance of a British-American offer to help get the dam started.

Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser strenuously objected to some terms of the original Western offer. U. S. Ambassador Henry Byrd, who returned to Washington is understood to have succeeded in having the terms modified.

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
BRADFORD, England (AP) — Warning that there is "plenty of dry tinder" in the smoldering Middle East to touch off World War III, Prime Minister Eden said last night fear of nuclear reprisal is still the chief deterrent to global conflict.

Speaking at a Conservative party rally, Eden warned against overconfidence that the danger of general war has receded.

"I do not want to be misunderstood," he said. "The risk is always there and a universal explosion could easily be touched off by hostilities in some critical region such as the Middle East."

"If there is less fear of world conflict today," he said, "it is due to the deterrent of nuclear weapons. Remove the deterrent or take risks in pretending the deterrent is not there, and the world outlook would be terrifying indeed."

"The justification for both atomic and hydrogen bombs is that they are deterrents so awful no country will risk their use against itself."

In an apparent turnaround of Russia's demand for an end to hydrogen bomb tests, Eden said Britain intends to go ahead with the development of its own H-bomb.

It becomes increasingly unlikely any country possessing hydrogen bombs would deliberately use them against a rival power that owns it also," he said. "We intend to own it always."

President to Stay Out of Discussion

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower today voiced complete faith in Secretary of State Dulles but declined to get into the controversy over Dulles' "bunk of war" interview.

Eisenhower told a news conference he has not read the Life magazine article in which Dulles was quoted as saying administration policy has prevented war in Asia three times and that "the ability to get to the verge without getting into the war is the necessary art."

Eisenhower said his own view is that, in waging peace, the country has got to stand firmly on essential matters. And if that brings on the danger of a conflict because of aggressive actions by others, he said, you can regard that as a brink.

Nonetheless, Eisenhower said, when it comes to war he would go before Congress and say what he thought.

Before the President stated his views, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said he and other Democrats "will pursue our efforts to get a clear outline of administration foreign policy."

FBI Lashes Negro for His Criticism

MEMPHIS, Tenn., (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has sharply criticized a Negro leader who says the FBI doesn't try very hard when probing a racial killing.

In a letter to Dr. T. R. M. Howard of Mound Bayor, Miss., Hoover said Howard should either give evidence or retract his "intemperate and baseless charges."

"I do not propose to permit false charges made against this bureau to go unchallenged," said the letter, made public last night by FBI regional headquarters here.

Reached in Los Angeles, Howard told the Memphis Commercial Appeal his statements were "based on reports brought to me by responsible Negroes in the various sections of Mississippi."

Howard said he would make a more extensive statement after he received and studied the letter.

He is president of the Mississippi Regional Council of Negro Leadership and the National Medical Association. He has been out of Mississippi several weeks attending to NMA duties.

Slayer of Six Escapes From Indiana Prison

PRINCETON, Ind., (INS) — Convicted mass-murderer Leslie Irvin escaped today from the Gibson county jail just four days before he was to be transferred to death row at Indiana State Prison to await execution.

The killer's escape was discovered by Gibson County Sheriff Earl Hollen when he made a breakfast time check at Irvin's cell. Hollen said Irvin either picked up two lockers or acquired keys to make good his escape.

Early reports that four other prisoners escaped were erroneous. Hollen said that even Irvin's cell mate was unaware of the killer's flight until after the sheriff found the cell door open.

Irvin was convicted of one of six cold-blooded oriental-style slayings in the course of a series of robberies that netted him only $243.

Indiana State Police sent out a three-state alarm and immediately threw up roadblocks throughout the area. However, the hunt was hampered by heavy snow which fell since Irvin walked silently out of the jail some time after 10 p. m. last night.

Irvin was sentenced to die in the electric chair June 12 after being found guilty of the slaying of W. Wesley Kerr, Evansville, Ind., filling station operator. He also was accused and at one time admitted killing two southern Indiana women and three members of a Henderson, Ky., farm family.

All were shot through the head while kneeling.

Police alerted Kentucky and Illinois authorities in addition to getting out a full state warning in Indiana.

GOPS COMPETITION
SECAUCUS, N. J., (UP) — Why spend $100 at the Republican fund raising rally at Madison Square Garden tonight, asks former pig farmer Henry Krajewski, when you can attain his fund-raising goal across the street for $1.99?

Krajewski, a perennial candidate, is running for president on the "American third party" ticket. He will greet Republicans at a lending tonight's dinner with a sign reading: "Walk across the street and save 98 and two cents."

OCCUPATIONAL HAZARD
LONDON, (UP) — Fashion Designer Norman Hartnell reported an occupational hazard would keep one of his top models out of his fashion showings today.

He said the girl got a severe case of sunburn under a sun lamp while getting an appropriate tan for the spring fashion.

All Around the Town

By The Star Staff

The weatherman sees no relief from the cold and ice before Friday afternoon... the mercury reached a low of 28 during the past 24 hours but never got higher than 33... precipitation (rain, sleet and snow) of 45 of an inch last night brought the two-day total to 1.14 inches... this, of course, is the good side with the soil sorely needing the moisture... perhaps the greatest damage resulting is to trees throughout the city and county... city trucks were busy all day yesterday and again this morning picking up fallen limbs of all sizes... and heavy damage hit the beautiful Liveoak trees at City Hall, the Magnolias at Rose Hill Cemetery and nearly everywhere else.

Joe Booker also reported that the huge Magnolia tree at Washington, was very badly damaged... this is one where Albert Pike is supposed to have written his poem, "Magnolia," getting his inspiration from the huge tree which is more than 65 feet high.

The Marine Corps still has room for more men in its "Arkansas Travelers Platoon"... just write Sgt. Megahoe, Room 206, Post Office Building, Texarkana, if interested.

Rotary ladies will hold a March of Dimes coffee at the Checkered Friday and Mrs. Vera Anderson, on behalf of the group, invites everyone to come by and meet "us girls"... honestly, that's the way she said it.

Strange sight Wednesday was a car going down the street with a couple of fishing poles on the side.

Most disappointed were the school children hoping it would snow enough to close schools Thursday.

Thought for the Day: A wedding ring may not be as tight as a tourniquet, but it certainly stops the circulation.

Absent Minded Lady Finds Her $38,584

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A kindly old lady apologized to the Police Department yesterday for all the fuss she caused over $38,584 in stocks and bonds that she thought had been stolen.

It was all due to a lapse of memory. 71-year-old Mary Wright explained. The securities were tucked away in a safety deposit box, neatly wrapped as she had left them.

Miss Wright called at her bank yesterday, looked in her safe deposit box—and there were the securities. She said she could not remember putting them there.

Council Ready to Rap Israel for Attack

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. Security Council moved closer today toward a vote condemning Israel's Dec. 11 raid on Syrian outposts northeast of the Sea of Galilee.

The attack killed 56 Syrians and six Israelis. Syrian called it aggression. Israel said it was necessary to end Syrian firing on Israeli fishing and police boats on the inland lake, which is inside Israel near the Syrian border.

The council was sure to condemn the attack in a formal decision, since all its 11 members had done so in speeches. It had three rival resolutions to choose from.

Joza Brilej of Yugoslavia introduced the third as a compromise between the stiffer proposal put in by the Soviet Union and a somewhat milder one from the United States, Britain and France. Western observers feel that the Soviets through their resolution are trying to win Arab favor as part of their current cold war offensive in the Middle East.

Other top items of news conference:

1. He expressed complete faith in Secretary of State John F. Dulles at a time when Dulles under severe criticism for "brink of war" statements.

2. He thought there should be a general election in the state of New Hampshire.

3. He denied the assertion that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, former Army Chief of Staff, was in the military field on the basis of domestic politics.

One feature of the measure is provision for the sale abroad of 150 million dollars of surplus farm products to defray the cost of some new military housing overseas.

Proposed military building, including land acquisition, in the United States would total $1,055,281,000, the overseas construction figure in $544,222,000, and work at classified and unspecified locations amounts to $402,780,000. Nearly 80 million dollars is earmarked for the construction of 3,740 military family housing units in the United States.

The Air Force share of construction is $1,137,585,000. The Navy $418,728,000 and the Army $305,670,000.

They are the tycoon and his diggers, the housewives and secretaries who bought the shares of Ford Motor Co. stock ever sold to the general public.

It is estimated that between 10,000 and 300,000 persons bought the 10,200,000 shares of Ford stock yesterday.

To many of these lucky holders their Ford shares will come collectors' items. Others bought the stock to make a profit or for income, or "to put it away for my kids."

Whatever their reason for buying Ford stock, they took part in one of the most momentous securities offerings in the annals of finance.

A "thunderous" demand for brokers when the sale began and it lasted all through the day.

Exasperated brokers said the simply was not enough stock around.

"We could have sold 10 million shares of the Ford stock to the brokers from the English channel to the Pacific Coast. To their customers added 'amen.'"

Ike Okays Name on Ballot and Defends Dulles

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON, (UP) — President Eisenhower said today he has no objection to his name being entered in presidential primaries. But he emphasized that "it did not mean he would run."

He also told a jam-packed news conference — his first in Washington since Aug. 4 — that "my life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue."

Mr. Eisenhower was subjected to intense questioning about politics although he tried to head them off with a prepared statement about the primaries. He said he had reached even a tentative decision on seeking reelection. He said, however, that he was busy seeing trusted friends and associates on the matter.

Mr. Eisenhower's first news conference since his heart attack Sept. 24 drew a near-record crowd of more than 280 reporters to a conference room on the second floor of the old State Department building.

He appeared to be in good spirits, and laughed heartily several times during the meeting. He showed some residual evidence of a light sun-tan he picked up recently in Florida.

The President's chief political commentator of the day was in the form of a telegram to Mr. B. Jackson, deputy secretary of state of New Hampshire.

Mr. Eisenhower's name was filed for the presidential primary.

"No meal should be eaten in less than an hour," he said firmly, "and it should be accompanied by a good French wine. Then you will live longer."

Many of Steve's longtime guests refuse even to look at the menu. They insist that he select for them, a task he thoroughly enjoys, for to him a good meal is like a table symphony.

What do celebrities like to eat? Here are some favorite dishes of some of the well-known people he has served:

Ronald Arundsen, the explorer—corned beef as topped with an egg.

Robert Montgomery and Queen Marie of Romania—cold chicken with a liver pate.

his attitude toward the New Hampshire preferential primary covered all similar situations. He said he would raise no official objection to his name being entered in any reference primary.

He said, however, that he hoped all voters in the Republican primaries "will carefully weigh all the possibilities and personalities that may be involved."

Mr. Eisenhower was reminded that Sen. William F. Knowland, who has presidential aspirations of his own, said last Sunday that he felt the President surely would make an announcement one way or the other by mid-February. Mr. Eisenhower said he had no desire to confuse the people or evade the question but that all he could say now was that he would make his decision as soon as it is firmly reached in his own mind.

Another questioner said that some of his remarks at Key West Jan. 8 led to the belief in some quarters that he had reached a tentative decision on whether to run again. Asked if this was a correct conclusion, the President answered with a quick but flat no.

Did he regard his current state of health as sufficiently good to carry the burdens of the Presidency? Mr. Eisenhower, somewhat thoughtfully, said it would be premature to say that in specific terms.

He said that he had had several long and active days. He gave his schedule yesterday as an example. He was in his office most all of the day. He added that by following the doctors' regime he thought that so far he had gotten by very well.

What was his reaction to suggestions by former President Herbert Hoover for easing the burdens of the presidency, particularly the suggested appointment of an administrative vice president.

Reaction Varies on Mortgage Loan Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A move to permit government-backed mortgage loans to run again for as long as 30 years has drawn conflicting reactions from a home-building industry spokesman and a prominent mortgage banker.

Earl W. Smith, president of the National Association of Homebuilders, hailed yesterday's action, announced jointly by the Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration.

But mortgage banker George W. Warnecke commented in New York "I can't see how its long-range effects can be good for anyone."

In a move to tighten credit and combat inflation, the maximum term on VA-guaranteed and FHA-insured loans had been cut last midior.

Kate Smith and Tommy Manville—French lamb chops.

Grace Kelly and Wendell Willkie—chicken hash.

Ex-President Herbert Hoover—bouillabaisse.

I asked Steve, who has selected hundreds of thousands of meals for notables, his idea of a dream meal—"the perfect dinner." His eyes sparkled at the thought.

"First assorted hot canapés a la Rita with dry martini," he began dreamily, "followed by some black caviar and a nip of aquavit.

"Next, a cup of petite marmite, a soup made of chicken, beef, marrow and fresh vegetables, served with grated cheese and floating pieces of toast."

"Next, the fish, English sole veronique, cooked with white wine and white grapes and accompanied by a Rhine or moselle wine."

"Next, tender string beans and tournedos gasteon, a filet mignon with pate, invented by our general manager, Gaston Lahryssen, and named in his honor. A good French Bordeaux wine with this, of course."

"Next, a vanilla soufflé with Grand Marnier liqueur."

"Finally, coffee demi-tasse, with green creme de menthe for the ladies and a good French brandy for the gentlemen."

"After a dinner like that you feel like you're in paradise. You will remember the rest of your life."

What would it cost? Well, buying a dinner like that is like buying a yacht. If you're going to worry about price, you ought as well forget the whole thing and order a hamburger.

PLAYS A BEAUTY—Using descriptions supplied by Homer in "The Iliad," Warner Brothers has selected Rossana Fodesta to portray "the most beautiful woman in the world." The Italian actress will star in "Helen of Troy." She is currently doubling with Alan Ladd in "Santiago."

Ike Wants No Part of Issue With Ridgway

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today, in regard to criticism by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway that if there were any misstatements in his 1954 State of the Union message they should be taken up with Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur Radford—not with the President.

Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference when asked about Ridgway's magazine article statement that as Army chief of staff he did not go along with the military cuts proposed in that message even though the message said the defense program had been approved unanimously by the joint chiefs of staff.

Ridgway also contended, in the Saturday Evening Post article, that he had been put under pressure to fit his ideas on Army needs into a "preconceived politico-military party line" based on budgetary considerations. He said domestic politics was involved.

Eisenhower said such a thing would be contrary to the policies he has followed in his military career.

On the question of unanimity among the Joint Chiefs of Staff Eisenhower said every section of a state of the union message is sent to the department involved so that every item can be checked.

And he said that if any error was discovered in the 1954 message the reporters should see Wilson and Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Wilson told a news conference Tuesday it is his memory that Ridgway was correct in claiming he did not concur in the decision on the level of Army forces for fiscal 1955.

Radford, talking with newsmen today on his return from a worldwide inspection trip, said "as far as I can recall" acceptance of the manpower plans was unanimous.

Originator of Two Primary Idea Dies

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The man who was responsible for establishing in Arkansas the 2-primary system of nominating candidates for public office is dead.

Abe Collins, 70-year-old president of the First National Bank of De Queen and a practicing attorney in that southwest Arkansas city for 49 years, died at a hospital here yesterday.

Collins authored the 29th Amendment to the state Constitution, which requires that the first two candidates for nomination to an office meet in a run-off primary when no candidate receives a majority of all votes cast in the first, or preferential, primary. The amendment was adopted in the 1938 general election.

July 30 from 30 to 25 years.

Announcing restoration of the longer maximum term, the VA and FHA said such a step was made possible because "the reduced volume of home building has lessened the hazard of overextension of credit."

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Should Step on Her Difficult Mother

Dear Miss Dix: When my husband and I were first married we lived alone and were very happy. Because of financial difficulties, my mother came to live with us and, since she doesn't like my husband, she has never been happy here. In fact, as a result of a small misunderstanding, they haven't spoken for two years.

There isn't a day goes by that Mom doesn't tell me the things she doesn't like about Jack, even in the presence of our two children. I love my husband very much and am perfectly satisfied to overlook his faults, which, it must be admitted, he has. Mother absolutely hates it here, but can't afford to pay for a place of her own.

Answer: The truth of the matter is that since your mother can't be happy in a home of her own, she's going to make quite certain no one else is happy, either. You're the mistress of your household, and it's up to you to see that those in it are agreeable and co-operative.

Snap Judgement

Dear Miss Dix: After three months of marriage, my cousin left her husband because he was irresponsible, wouldn't make a home for her and she suspected he was running around with other women. She is now five months pregnant with his child and doesn't want him to know about the baby. She plans a divorce as soon as the child is born.

Answer: Somewhere along the line your cousin has listened to some very bad advice. Three months is a very short period in which to determine the stability or weakness of a person. Perhaps your cousin's husband would have proven equal to his responsibilities had he been left alone with his wife to show it. I suspect that her relatives were somewhat more involved than they should have been.

Talk the young wife into contacting her husband and telling him of the baby. An interview with a marriage counselor would be in order.

too. Any marriage deserves a chance of salvation before it's given up as hopeless.

Answer: Dame Etiquette graciously bestows an approving nod to career girls in this situation.

Dear Miss Dix: My girl friend and I have been friends since we were small children; we are now 15. We agree on everything, especially boys. As soon as I like a certain boy, she becomes attracted to him, too. Up to now it hasn't mattered as the boys in question haven't rated too high with me.

However, I recently met a young man I like very much and I think he feels the same way about me. My girl friend again stepped in, but this time I decided not to give up. She has already sprung the trap by asking him to a party. Should I go ahead with an invitation to another affair, and hope for the best?

Answer: If you like the boy, I think you'd better trust to something more than hope. Beat your girl friend at her own game. Work at being charming and irresistible. That's the way to keep a boy interested; nothing passive will do.

Arkansan Accused of Bank Robbery

NEW ALBANY, Miss., (AP)—A 34-year-old Arkansan has been charged with bank robbery in the $52,841 holdup of the Ackerman (Miss.) bank.

The federal charge was filed against Fruct C. Kimes of Hot Springs yesterday by U.S. Dist. Atty. Thomas Etheridge. Earlier, the Federal Bureau of Investigation had accused Kimes of being one of two gunmen who looted the bank.

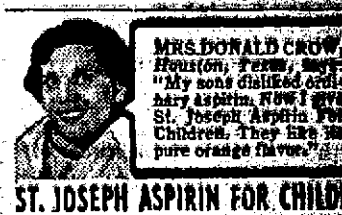

Kimes and Wilson H. Bobo, 32,

Tax Cut Later This Year Is Prediction

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UP) — Belief among Democratic leaders today that President Eisenhower will ask Congress to cut taxes later this year.

"The administration says it is against any tax reduction bill at this time," Speaker Says Rayburn, (D-Tex.) told a Democratic dinner at Baltimore last night. "But, Mark my words, in an election year like 1956 I predict that before Congress adjourns the administration will recommend a tax cut."

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) also expects such a move. He told a reporter yesterday, "It is difficult for me to believe" the administration will not recommend tax relief. He suggested the move would be aimed at helping re-elect the Republicans who voted against the Democratic tax-cutting plan last year.

The views expressed by Rayburn and McCormack raised the question of whether Democrats will attempt to seize the tax-cutting initiative from President Eisenhower by launching a tax cutting drive in advance of any presidential recommendation.

Early last year Rayburn, Mc-

Will Try to Get Funds for Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — An attempt to obtain funds for Dardanelle Dam and two other Arkansas River Basin projects, omitted from President Eisenhower's budget recommendations, will be made in the House.

Rep. Edmondson (D-Okla.) said yesterday he has talked with other congressmen and House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) about obtaining an appropriation for Dardanelle, and Eufaula and Keystone dam projects in Oklahoma.

"We are going to battle for funds in the Appropriations subcommittee, the full committee and on the floor of the House if necessary," Edmondson said.

Cornbeck and other key House Democrats became convinced Mr. Eisenhower was going to call for a tax cut this January. This prompted them to quickly push through the House a Democratic bill to cut income taxes $20 a person effective Jan. 1, 1956. But the Senate, in the face of administration opposition, killed the measure.

Mr. Eisenhower this year is firmly committed to oppose a tax reduction unless an anticipated budget surplus is large enough to provide also for a "modest" reduction in the national debt. His budget message to Congress Monday envisioned a $400,000,000 budget surplus for the fiscal year starting next July 1. But the President said that was too "slim" to permit tax reduction.

TV No Longer Dirty Word to Filmland

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Now the tail is wagging the dog. Television used to be a dirty word among the movie studios. Film bosses spoke of the tiny screen only in terms of disdain. Look at them now! The studios are scrambling to cash in on the TV gold. Most of them are making films for TV, several are selling their features and shorts to the new medium, and all are using it to exploit their new pictures.

The most TV-conscious of the lots is RKO, which has already sold its old pictures to TV under the new ownership of the O'Neils of General Tire. Heading the studio is Daniel O'Shea, former Selznick executive most recently with CBS. His production chief is Bill Dozier, another film veteran who served with CBS.

Dozier is outspoken in his regard for TV as an aid for films. "I believe that television is the greatest developer of talent this country has ever known," said Dozier, who was in charge of CBS dramatic shows in the West and then a Hollywood production boss. "Even more than vaudeville, which developed mostly entertainers, TV has provided training ground for actors, writers, directors, producers in comedy, drama

Marines Collect $32,000 for Polio

AUSTIN, Tex., (AP) — Two members of a Houston Marine Reserve unit trudged into Austin yesterday and estimated that they had collected nearly 10 cents for the March of Dimes on each of the 36,000 steps they took in their 160-mile hike. Staff Sgt. Nolan G. Henry and Hospital Mate 2.C. Charles R. Blumar left Houston Jan. 7. They collected more than $32,000 for the polio drive and lost 10 to 12 pounds on the hike. They were given heroes wel-

Arkansans Interested in Gas Bill

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the next few weeks two Arkansas Democrats — Sen. Fulbright and Rep. Harris — will be in the forefront of congressional maneuvering on the controversial natural gas bill.

The bill, known as the Fulbright-Harris bill, would exclude the windhead price of gas from regulation by the federal government. Last year Harris and other supporters got the bill through the House by a narrow margin of six votes—209-203.

This year the fight has shifted to the Senate. Debate started yesterday. Another close vote is likely. Opponents claim that if the bill goes back to the House it is dead because of a change in sentiment by some members. Any amendments by the Senate would send it back to the house.

Harris doesn't concede that. "That's what the opponents say," he commented, adding that if the bill's supporters have the strength to pass the bill in the Senate, they also should have the strength to prevent amendments.

"I see no need for amendments just to change the language," he said.

However, some observers say there may be some senators who don't like the bill but don't want to vote against it either. These might vote for an amendment in hopes of blocking the measure in the House.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) is aligned with Fulbright in support of the bill but isn't taking an active part in the fight.

The Fulbright-Harris bill is similar to the Kerr bill passed by Congress several years ago but vetoed by President Truman.

Rep. Harris says the House Commerce Committee, of which he is a member, likely will have a hearing this year on the question of equal radio and television time for political candidates.

Under present law, if a legal come along the route and were escorted by high school bands at a number of towns.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

THE STORY: James Bennett, investigator for the State Industrial Welfare Commission, is trying to obtain permission for an autopsy on Frank Osborn, who died six months before. He is trying to get in touch with Dr. Dick Jarrett, the physician who attended Osborn, and also coroner.

Chapter IV

The girl's eyes held a faintly defiant light.

"Good evening, Miss," I said. "I'm sorry to intrude."

She didn't answer. I said to the man, "Dr. Jarrett?"

He nodded, his expression puzzled. I took a card from my wallet and laid it on the table. He glanced at it. "Bennett," he said, "from the Industrial Welfare Commission. Can't you see me at my office?"

"Yes," I said, "but I'd like to complete my business tonight."

Dr. Jarrett hesitated, his clipped fingernails drumming the table.

Then he sighed. "Very well, but make it brief." He slid out of the booth and stood up. "Excuse me a moment, Lucy." He walked back to the bar. I followed him.

"Drink?" I asked him.

"I have a drink," he said shortly, nodding at the booth.

The bartender looked at me inquiringly. "Bourbon and water," I said. I heard Dr. Jarrett sigh impatiently. I said to him, "It's about a man named Frank Osborn."

He stopped drumming, regarded candidate for an office legal in the sense that he has filed for office and hasn't just merely announced — gets radio or TV time then other legal candidates for that office are entitled to equal time.

Harris said the hearing would be on the question of whether present law should be amended.

It's possible, he said, for the present law to put on end to the forum or discussion-type of radio and TV programs during the campaign.

For a candidate for an office were interviewed on such a program, he said, then all other candidates for that office would be entitled to ask for and get equal time. This could make it impossible for a forum program to operate.

HE'S 107

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP) — Charles S. Hansbrough, 34, saw an empty police cruiser yesterday and decided to use its radio. Detectives Joseph Pirman and George Kleinhantz said they found him stretched out on the front seat trying to call in a "10-8," police code for "available for duty." The officers told him he was "10-7"—off the air for investigation. They charged him with disorderly conduct.

me steadily, and then said in an even voice, "I remember Frank's case very well. It's closed."

"Not any more," I said. "The Commission has sent me the file and asked me to look into it again. He was on total disability for silicosis, of industrial origin. You diagnosed his death as due to coronary occlusion. It doesn't jibe. Lungs and heart. When we know for certain which caused death, then the case will be closed." The bartender slid a glass across the bar and I took a small drink.

Dr. Jarrett touched a finger to his thin lips. "But why wait so long?"

I smiled. "The bureaucratic cogs of the Commission turn slowly."

"What do you propose to do now?"

"You should know, Doctor. Autopsy."

"After six months?"

I nodded. "I hope the widow will give her consent."

"And if she doesn't?"

I shrugged. "Then I will request the county coroner to issue an official order."

"I'm the coroner of this county," he said.

"I know. And you were also the attending physician. You signed the death certificate."

"Coronary," he said stubbornly. "I'll stand on that. I treated Frank from the beginning. In addition to the silicosis he had this heart condition, a serious one. The silicosis had been arrested. X-rays taken shortly before his death proved that. Then—" He snapped his fingers—"he went just like that. Coronary."

"Maybe the lung ailment helped to bring it on?"

"No," he said bluntly. "Silicosis is a slow death. And, bear in mind, he had this heart history."

I said, "The state was prepared to accept Silicosis as the cause of death, without question. The widow would have received $10,000."

"I know that," he snapped, "but there is something called professional ethics."

"Yes, Doctor," I said, a trifle wearily. "I've encountered it many times. And I admire your profession and respect it. I admire you especially, because you were not swayed by the obvious, even though you knew that death by Silicosis would result in cash for the widow."

"Thank you."

"You're welcome, Doctor. Could you give me some details? Were you with Mr. Osborn when he died?"

"Yes. I was at his home, along with some other people."

"I see," I said. "Were the Osborns having a sort of party?"

"Just a small gathering. A few of us had been to an affair at the school, and Mrs. Osborn had previously invited us to have sandwiches afterward."

"Did Mr. Osborn go to the school with you?"

"Yes. He'd been rather confined, and as his physician I thought the outing would be good for him."

"You've been very helpful."

"Take my word, Mr. Bennett—Frank's heart killed him."

"It kills us all," I said, "in one way or another. What persons were at this gathering at the Osborns'?"

He flushed angrily. "Names of all witnesses are on the death certificate. Is that all?"

"One thing more."

He paused and turned. "Yes?"

"If Mrs. Osborn refuses to consent to the autopsy, will you cooperate with the state by ordering it performed?"

He was a full foot shorter than I was, and he had to tilt his head a little to look me in the eyes. "Certainly not," he said coldly. "An autopsy is needless. I have given you my professional statement, orally and in writing, as to the cause of Frank Osborn's death. I see no reason why it should be questioned."

"The Commission can exert some pressure," I murmured.

"You fellows on the public payroll meddle around in some business like this, and let damn-ing cases rot in the files—over the state taxes are to him. He was trembling a little."

I gazed at him curiously. Then I said, "Relax, Doctor. Mrs. Osborn will consent to the autopsy."

Comedy Hour Fails to Get Off the Ground

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—As noted here a week ago, the first NBC Comedy Hour failed to get off the ground. It's sad to report, but neither did the second.

It's sad because a lot of money was spent on a lot of talent in an effort to be entertaining. You may not live by audience rating figures, but the advertising agencies along Madison Avenue often do.

The first Sunday, the 15-city Trendex survey rated the Comedy Hour at 15.8 against Ed Sullivan's 24.6. Last Sunday's figures, are even more dismal, 11.8 against 35. Seldom has a show been so belabored by the critics, but before we raise a stick to beat again let's pause and ask: What has happened here?

The man placed in command of this debacle is Sam Fuller, one of the nicest, most intelligent guys I've ever met in television. I bleed for him, as I do for all field commanders ordered to hold or take impossible positions by rear area high commands. Fuller is fighting valiantly with all the hastily assembled and inadequate forces at his disposal. But the superior resources of Ed Sullivan on CBS-TV are just too much.

There's not much sense in blaming that old millitman, Leo Durocher, a baseball manager in civilian life who never had a baptism of fire as a master of ceremonies before his current role. Rather, let's track the blame to supreme headquarters — to Robert Sarnoff, president of NBC, and Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver, chairman of the board, where the real meat must have been thought up.

Little thorough strategic planning is in evidence there. After Sullivan knocked the Comedy Variety Hour out of the way, they apparently decided the only way to beat Sullivan was to do something much like Sullivan's program — though with less music. It's as naive as silencing your artillery and saying only your infantry can defeat your opponents' infantry. Then they compounded the error by moving hastily and without adequate preparation.

When the history of this present campaign is written, let's not place all the blame on the guys in the field.

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Adlai E. Stevenson on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' "brink of war" statement regarding U.S. foreign policy.

"For this nation to walk on the verge of war three times in three years while drastically reducing our military defense for domestic political advantage can only be counted suicidal folly."

Liverpool, England — The Royal Navy in ruling against a lady officer playing the rear end of a decoy cow.

"To have a Wren officer playing such a role would have brought ridicule to the service. Some mothers would not like to think their daughters were joining up to be given such tasks."

OXFORD, England — Michael Foot of the Oxford city council in his criticism of a picture magazine carrying revealing pinups of Swedish screen star Anita Ekberg.

"I criticize this publication for its rapid alteration between succulent poppies (British slang for 'real knockout') on one page and oleographs of the saints on the next."

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban to the Security Council on the Israeli raid of Dec. 11 against Syria.

"Israel comes before a tribunal where the only alternatives, whatever the merits of the case, are verdict for the Arabs or no verdict at all."

NEW YORK — The National Citizens Committee for Eisenhower, which spearheaded his 1952 drive, on its announcement that it is being reformed to boost the President for reelection.

"We are convinced that under present world conditions the President will consider it his duty to serve a second term, provided he finds that his health will permit him to carry the load. We believe that his recovery is a foregone conclusion."

WASHINGTON — Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.) on the rocking chair he gave to President Eisenhower: "I am sending you this rocking chair without a cushion because you have never had, never want, and never need a soft seat."

SMU Coach Seeks an Assistant

DALLAS (AP)—Southern Methodist head Coach Woody Woodard has interviewed a second prospect for the backfield coaching job vacated by Bo Hagan. He is John (Red) Cochran, recently resigned Wake Forest backfield coach.

Henry Stram, Purdue's head backfield coach, was interviewed Tuesday.

Woodard said two or three other prospects would be interviewed before the job is filled.

Stevenson Entered in Minnesota

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—Adlai Stevenson entered his name in the March 20 Minnesota Democratic presidential primary today and then was introduced by Gov. Orville L. Freeman as "our next president."

The smiling Stevenson filed his name with Joseph Donovan, secretary of state, who accepted it and the $25 filing fee.

Dozens of newsmen, cameramen and photographers were on hand to witness the filing, the first in the state primary and Stevenson's first in the nation.

"I am very honored to be here," he told the crowd. "You have done me a great honor being here as witnesses."

Then he turned to George Matthews, chairman of the Hennepin county board of commissioners, and thanked him for supplying the $25 filing fee.

Freeman then introduced Stevenson as "our next president."

Stevenson, Freeman and other state Democratic-Farmer-Labor party officials drove to the capitol in an 11-car motorcade from World-Chamberlain airport, arriving at 10:55 a.m. CST.

After the filing ceremony was completed, Stevenson and Freeman went into the governor's office where the 1952 Democratic nominee shook hands with the chairmen of the Minnesota Stevenson for President committee.

Mrs. Eugene Anderson, Red Wing, former ambassador to Denmark, and M. J. Bailey, Belle Plaine.

Stevenson arrived at the airport at 10:10 a.m. and commented, "every time I come here it's snowing." A light snow was falling at the time.

He told newsmen that he noted the absence of any expenditure for a highway program and for aid to farmers in President Eisenhower's budget message. He said the President's aim seems to be to show a budget surplus instead of taking care of necessary aid.

He also said he thought there might be some possibility of shifting some of the tax burden from the people in the lowest income group without reducing total revenue. He said he agreed with Mr. Eisenhower that this is no time for a tax reduction.

On Friday night the local Junior and Senior boys journeyed to De Queen for a pair of games.

Also on Friday night: Bradley goes to Bodcaw; Blevins plays at Lewisville; Guernsey goes to Saratoga; Laneburg takes on Spring Hill.

Saddler Wins But Only by a Technicality

By CHRIS EDMONDS
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ringwise Sandy Saddler, his world featherweight crown still intact although somewhat battered, set his sights today on a crack at the lightweight title.

The 32-year-old Saddler, trailing by one point on all three official scorecards after nine rounds, retained his 126-pound championship with a technical knockout of Filipino Flash Elorde at 59 seconds of the 13th round last night. Referee Ray Flores stopped the scrap, a bloody melee in the final rounds, because of a long, deep cut over Elorde's left eye.

The game little challenger, who weighed 125 pounds to Saddler's 126, suffered the cut in the eighth round and appeared virtually blinded the rest of the way. He insisted, though, that he could have gone on.

The crowd, almost 100 per cent on his side, boomed lustily when Flores' decision to stop it was concurred in by ring physician Dr. Robert Laddon.

"I finish strong," Elorde declared in his dressing room. "The eye was not bothering me. He never did hurt me."

DOGS

EYE COLOR IMPORTANT
No point in the standards of perfection drawn up for the various breeds of pure-bred canines is apt to challenge a judges attention more sharply, when he scrutinizes an individual dog, than the shape, placement, and especially the color of the dog's eyes.

Thus it is well for anyone, before setting out to choose a dog, to check what the standard says about "eyes" for the breed in which the prospective buyer is interested.

The dog he buys may never be scheduled to compete in the show ring under an official judge, but every person with any knowledge of dogs at all is a judge in his own mind when he looks at a friend's acquisition.

Shape and placement requirements vary from breed to breed, and for a given breed more than one color may be approved—depending often on the coat color of the animal. But an eye color that may be correct or permissible in one breed may be a grave fault or even a disqualification in another. Unscrupulous dealers palm such dogs off on unknowing buyers, fast.

Although there are outstanding exceptions, generally speaking a light eye is an anathema, especially if it is yellow. However, among the several exceptions, the Chesapeake Bay Retriever's eye should be "clear yellow" and the Weimaraner's "blue-grey or amber, appearing amber to blue-grey, according to the light." These are as important as the general rule which demands dark eyes—hazel, brown, the darker the better, even truly black for most breeds.

Newborn puppies, like human babies' eyes darken with the passing weeks or months, and old dogs' eyes fade as do their human counterparts. But many long-experienced breeders are convinced that no dog's eyes will become as dark as its breeding indicates it should, and that fading will be hastened, if the dog's diet is deficient in mineral content and vitamins.

Cleveland to Bring Up Young Hurlers
By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, who failed to produce a 20-game winning pitcher for the first time since 1945 last season, are bringing ten yearling hurlers to their spring training camp in Tucson, Ariz., next month.

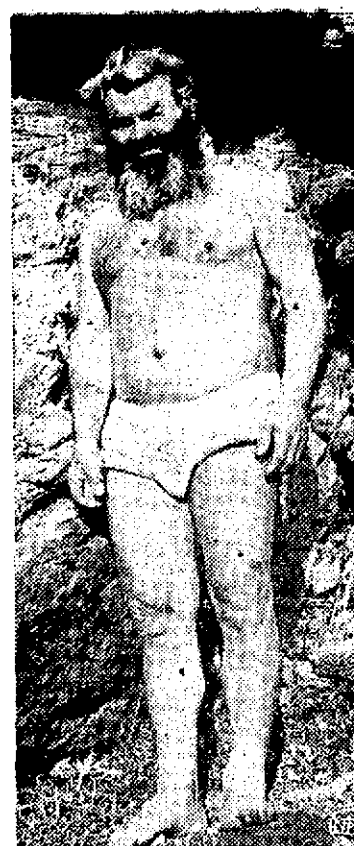

Hank Greenberg, the astute general manager, realizes as well as anyone else that age has caught up with his once-famed big four.

Bob Feller, now 37, has been reduced to a once-a-week performer. Bob Lemon is 35, Early Wynn 36 and Mike Garcia 32. It would surprise few folks if 22-year-old Herb Score, last year's rookie sensation, takes over as the No. 1 pitcher this year.

"CAVE MAN" — Christos Goutas stands before his home, a cave in the hills of Macedonia, Greece. The modern-day "cave man," 60, wears nothing but a loincloth, even in the coldest weather. He's lived in the cave since 1941, when, as a member of an Allied underground unit, he was wounded and hid there from the enemy. A vegetarian, Goutas lives on herbs and vegetables found in the hills.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Seven Arkansas football players, including one who played his college ball at Abilene Christian in Texas, were taken by professional teams in the National Football League's annual draft, which ended last night.

Selected in the last 10 rounds of the draft were fullback Gerald Nesbitt, tackle Bill Fuller and Halfback Buddy Bob Benson of the University of Arkansas, and Paul Goad, former Little Rock High School star who played at Abilene Christian.

Nesbitt, a junior who has another year of eligibility at Arkansas, and Fuller were drafted by the New York Giants, coached by Jim Lee Howell, a former Razorback athletic star.

The Pittsburgh Steelers took the speedy Benson and the San Francisco 49ers got Goad, also a halfback.

Earlier in the draft the Chicago Cardinals selected Tommy Spiers, the passing master who directed Arkansas State College's attack last year. Spiers, of Osceola, will give the Cards two Arkansasans at quarterback. Lamar McHan, former university great, has been the teams regular signal caller for the past two seasons.

In the first two rounds of the draft, held last November by the NFL in an attempt to get the jump on Canadian clubs in the hunt for top talent, the Giants took fullback Henry Moore, and the Cleveland Browns selected halfback Preston Carpenter. Both Moore and Carpenter represented Arkansas last year on the All-Southwest Conference team.

NEW YORK — The New York Times said today the U.S. Army's elite corps of "Liberation Fighters" in Europe—the 10th Special Forces Group in South Germany—has been cut two-thirds as a result of manpower reductions in the armed forces.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper also said a reduction of about 25 per cent has been imposed on the 77th Special Forces Group at Ft. Bragg, N. C., the Army's only other such unit.

A substantial percentage of the special troops are rebellious fugitives from Iron Curtain countries, the story said, and added:

"These men are 'double' volunteers destined to be parachuted behind the Iron Curtain in a war. They would organize guerrilla forces for uprisings in countries under Soviet domination."

Utah has 1,763 miles of railroad. About 12 per cent of U. S. car owning families own more than one automobile.

He hadn't made that clear with his statement.

Newsmen yesterday wanted answers to that and to other questions raised by Life. They got many vague answers. Dulles said the quotation about the art of getting to the brink of war was ambiguous.

He said it was not word for word the way he would put it for publication although it is substantially what he thinks. He said he himself had neither reviewed nor seen the story before it appeared.

Life magazine said in a statement the article was reviewed by one of Dulles' aides and it has "every conviction we quoted him accurately."

There is one way of settling the question. Dulles could let newsmen see the transcript of his conversation with Life's reporter, James Shroyer. Dulles said such a transcript had been made but he wouldn't release it.

He said he did not want to be brought into a discussion of the Life writer's views but at the same time he would not spell out for newsmen where his views in the story ended and Life's began.

He was asked specifically to clarify some of the points. He would not.

Dulles didn't repudiate the Life article, which attempted to portray him as one of the greatest secretaries of state in history, but he did cast doubts on its accuracy.
